Environmental policy

Svenska Grindmatriser AB (SGA) is a fabless manufacturer of analog integrated circuits. Components from SGA are custom designed for their specific applications. This is what we call Specific Components. The introduction of a Specific Component will normally replace a large number of standard components and is in itself a way to reduce environmental impact for a specific customer application.

- ❖ We are committed to protect the environment by a responsible environmental performance and continuous improvements in our operations, products, and services.
- ❖ We will meet or exceed legal requirements to protect the environment. Our environmental management system includes to define and review goals to continuously improve our environmental performance.
